GLY-CAS IS A REAL BLESSING

Iowa Lady, Age 85, Enjoys Good Health Again; Sick Headaches, Neuritis, Lumbago Had Wrecked Her Health for Years.

MRS. CATHERINE COLEMAN

It is a shame every sufferer in this country does not know about Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Catherine Coleman, 812 3rd Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Ia., "respected lady." I had bilious attacks frequently, and sick headaches, confined to my bed too. Gas on my stomach caused suffering. My feet would swell and lumbago and neuritis pains nearly crippled me at times, and kidneys would not allow me to sleep much at night, up all hours. I was so discouraged, nothing helped me and I thought my system was wearing out—but Gly-Cas soon took right hold of my case once I gave it a chance. This new remedy seemed to be made for me as it has regulated my whole body, freed me of that suffering of 30 years and I am again enjoying good health. It is a blessing to be able to get a medicine like Gly-Cas." Gly-Cas is sold by Campbell's White Cross Pharmacy, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Charivari for Mr. and Mrs. Sam Seavey

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Seavey in Palmyra was the scene of a large and merry gathering last Wednesday evening when a group of friends and relatives of the community gathered there and held a charivari for their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Seavey, (nee Martin of Sterling).

There were 123 present and all spent a gay evening. They presented the newlyweds with many nice gifts and their best wishes for future happiness. Ice cream, candy, cake and cigars were the refreshments enjoyed.

—The Practical Club held a most enjoyable meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. B. Potter. Mrs. Archie Rawls was a guest. Mrs. C. A. Mellott had the paper for the afternoon, her subject being "Floor Coverings." Mrs. Mellott is thoroughly familiar with this subject and as she had samples of linoleum in the various stages of making. Also samples of different kinds of rugs, her subject was most comprehensive and made an interesting and instructive paper. Mrs. F. B. Wilson then conducted an interesting quiz on topics of the day. The entire group, accompanied by Mrs. Leon Hart at the piano, then joined in singing a number of Irish songs.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Bilk and Mrs. E. V. Mellott, poured, served most delicious refreshments, all in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

The meeting then adjourned to meet on March 20 with Mrs. Whitson, 516 Highland Avenue.

Enjoyable Meeting Of Phidian Art Club on Tuesday

Mrs. George C. Dixon and Mrs. M. C. Keller were hostesses to the Phidian Art club on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Dixon. The meeting was most delightful and was attended by about forty members.

Mrs. H. C. Warner gave an interesting account of the recent meeting of club presidents in Chicago, giving a vivid impression of some of the speakers and singers presented.

Mrs. Warner was again introduced, and gave a splendid, informal talk on Contemporary Drama. She gave a background for modern drama, speaking of old forms of plays and their outgrowth from folk lore and discussed the two classes of dramatic works, those to be read, and those to be produced.

She then took up the plays of Henrik Ibsen, who broke away from the long colloquies of actors in old dramas and who became a forerunner of the modern school. She spoke of George Bernard Shaw as the greatest satirist, and touched on the works of many playwrights down to the present, telling of plays of various themes, and commenting humorously on incidents and actors. The paper was sparkling and entertaining and instructive besides.

In the dining room, Mrs. Harry Edwards and Mrs. A. P. Moore presided over the tea table, which was graced with pink snapdragons, and the hostesses served appetizing refreshments.

Surprise Clarence Myers on Birthday

Mrs. Clarence Myers of 322 Logan avenue planned and carried out a happy birthday surprise for her husband, a salesman for Walter Knack, last evening at their home, as yesterday was his birthday. There were fourteen guests present and after the first merry surprise luncheon was played, Mrs. Helen Bowman received the favor for first honors and Mrs. Amos Eberly the consolation favor. Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. A tempting birthday cake was a feature of the gathering. Mr.

Neurocalometer Service

It is vitally essential in the successful treatment of nervous diseases to be able to find the exact location of the nerve or nerves affected. The Neurocalometer is a very precise, delicate instrument created through research, for that purpose. Not only is it capable of locating the precise nerve involved, but also it is able to show when the trouble has been removed. The Neurocalometer examination is as vital to nerve conditions as is the X-ray to bone and deep tissue examinations. You owe it to yourself to have this test made.

Committee on Education Met Tuesday

The Joint Committee on Education held its second meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Franc Ingraham.

Those present included the presidents of the local Parent Teachers Associations, the Committee on Education of the Dixon Woman's Club, and the Committee on Education of the Dixon League of Women Voters.

Prof. A. H. Lancaster, superintendent of our city school system, gave a very comprehensive survey of the local education situation.

He discussed the budget, explaining the sources of revenue, and the estimated expenditures for the current year.

He talked of the effect upon our local situation of the impending legislation in Springfield.

The points in which our schools excel were discussed, also the imperative needs.

Prof. Lancaster closed his remarks with a tribute to the constructive policy of the board of education.

After the address there was a general discussion of the school legislation in Springfield where bills are under way to enable the state to pay up the $12,000,000, which it owes the school districts, from the years 1931 to 1934.

Further plans were made for the Regional Conference on Education which is to be held in Dixon, Mar. 27th.

Prince of Sweden Weds the Beautiful Erika Patzek Today

London, March 8—(AP)—A romance like a fairy tale came true today with the wedding at noon of Sigvard, Prince of Sweden, Duke of Uppland and grandson of the Swedish king, to the beautiful Frauln Erika Patzek, 22-year-old daughter of a Berlin industrialist.

In taking his commoner bride at a Registry Office in the heart of busy London, the 26-year-old Prince—like Lennart, his cousin—abandoned his princely rights for a

FAITH OF OUR MOTHERS

(Tune: St. Catherine.)
FAITH of our mothers, hold it true.
As morning star in Heaven's blue.
As peerless pearl from the ocean's bed,
As guiding light, seen far ahead.

Faith of our mothers, blessed faith
It shall be ours to hold till death.
Faith of our mothers hold in trust
That which is true and pure and just.

Her loving thought and constant prayer,
For those held dear who leave her care.
Faith of our mothers, blessed faith
In holy hope, we'll hold till death.

Faith of our mothers, held in love
This sacred treasure from above.
God grant it grace upon its way,
O'er wandering souls to hold its sway.
Triumphantly, we'll hold till death
Faith of our mothers, blessed faith.

—Mrs. Charles Cuthbert Hall.

ST. MARY'S P. T. A. TO MEET TONIGHT

The P. T. A. of St. Mary's Parochial School will meet this evening at 7:30 at the school. The program will be given by pupils of the third and fourth grades. Mrs. George McKinney will have charge of the serving of the refreshments.

Concentration Affected
Mary is deep in coloring a paper-doll dress with crayons. It is nearly finished and her interest is at top pitch. The collar and cuffs will look wonderful done in yellow. Her mother says impatiently, "Throw out that rubbish at once. I'm cleaning."

An accumulation of interrupted impulses has the same souring influence as frustration. Moreover, repeated experiences shatter the powers of concentration and perseverance. In later life her mother may wonder why Mary cannot stick to anything and finish it. Or even why her daughter never takes an interest in anything at all.

Zest for living and trying and accomplishing lies in completed impulse. The basis is interest, and interest is at the root of almost everything that has ever been accomplished in the world. Sometimes we don't know it, but in one form or another it is there at work shaping our conduct and destinies.

A child conceives an idea, he wants to carry it out. The machinery of his mind is set in motion full tilt and his body gets orders from its master to finish it. Minds are tyrants and they don't willingly let go until they are satisfied.

Impulse is an excellent promoter. It is also a parent. It fathers initiative, ambition and perseverance. This is why it is important for a parent to understand the dangers of too much interference in Johnny's daily experiments that sometimes take him beyond the bounds of propriety or what we consider proper.

We hear so much about "frustration." And its companion "interrupted impulse."

Don't turn away because they have three syllables. The meaning of each is easy to understand. A boy wants to build a shanty. He has been wanting to for a year. His judgment tells him there is no real reason why he can't. He has tools, boards, and a place for it. But he cannot get permission. He broods and dreams over it. The impulse has started, and his mind calls for satisfaction.

He never gets permission. This is frustration. In time he seems to forget the desire, even if he is not conscious of it. But his mind retains it somewhere tucked away in its archives. And the disappointment colors his conduct. At first he is ill-humored and disobedient, but in time the apparent resentment loses its edge. It would seem as though all were right with the world again and with him. However, we now know that accumulated frustrations leave in their wake unhappy and even abnormal dispositions. The constantly frustrated child is seldom happy and usually is cranky.

The story is told.
Frustrations applies to the simplest things—a child can be frustrated fifty times a day. Certainly he cannot be permitted everything, but it is best not to overdo. This explains much poor conduct.

As to "interruption," it means cutting off an impulse after the desire has been conceived and the act is partly finished.

Impulse is an excellent promoter. It is also a parent. It fathers initiative, ambition and perseverance. This is why it is important for a parent to understand the dangers of too much interference in Johnny's daily experiments that sometimes take him beyond the bounds of propriety or what we consider proper.

We hear so much about "frustration." And its companion "interrupted impulse."

Don't turn away because they have three syllables. The meaning of each is easy to understand. A boy wants to build a shanty. He has been wanting to for a year. His judgment tells him there is no real reason why he can't. He has tools, boards, and a place for it. But he cannot get permission. He broods and dreams over it. The impulse has started, and his mind calls for satisfaction.

He never gets permission. This is frustration. In time he seems to forget the desire, even if he is not conscious of it. But his mind retains it somewhere tucked away in its archives. And the disappointment colors his conduct. At first he is ill-humored and disobedient, but in time the apparent resentment loses its edge. It would seem as though all were right with the world again and with him. However, we now know that accumulated frustrations leave in their wake unhappy and even abnormal dispositions. The constantly frustrated child is seldom happy and usually is cranky.

The story is told.
Frustrations applies to the simplest things—a child can be frustrated fifty times a day. Certainly he cannot be permitted everything, but it is best not to overdo. This explains much poor conduct.

Interrupted Impulses May Give Rise to Much Unhappiness

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
"Impulse." What does it mean? Is it a desire or an act?

It is both. It originates in the mind itself, seeks expression in doing, and results either in a feeling of contentment, or disappointment, dependent upon whether or not it is permitted to be completed.

A child conceives an idea, he wants to carry it out. The machinery of his mind is set in motion full tilt and his body gets orders from its master to finish it. Minds are tyrants and they don't willingly let go until they are satisfied.

Impulse is an excellent promoter. It is also a parent. It fathers initiative, ambition and perseverance. This is why it is important for a parent to understand the dangers of too much interference in Johnny's daily experiments that sometimes take him beyond the bounds of propriety or what we consider proper.

Frustrations applies to the simplest things—a child can be frustrated fifty times a day. Certainly he cannot be permitted everything, but it is best not to overdo. This explains much poor conduct.

As to "interruption," it means cutting off an impulse after the desire has been conceived and the act is partly finished.

Concentration Affected
Mary is deep in coloring a paper-doll dress with crayons. It is nearly finished and her interest is at top pitch. The collar and cuffs will look wonderful done in yellow. Her mother says impatiently, "Throw out that rubbish at once. I'm cleaning."

An accumulation of interrupted impulses has the same souring influence as frustration. Moreover, repeated experiences shatter the powers of concentration and perseverance. In later life her mother may wonder why Mary cannot stick to anything and finish it. Or even why her daughter never takes an interest in anything at all.

Zest for living and trying and accomplishing lies in completed impulse. The basis is interest, and interest is at the root of almost everything that has ever been accomplished in the world. Sometimes we don't know it, but in one form or another it is there at work shaping our conduct and destinies.

Miss Arlene Reuter Honored Tues. Eve

Seventy-five friends and neighbors were entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reuter of South Dixon for their niece, Miss Arlene Reuter who is soon to become the bride of Elton Becker of LaMoille.

The guests held a miscellaneous shower for Miss Reuter and she received many nice gifts with best wishes for happiness for the future. Delicious refreshments were served the latter part of the evening. Pink and white were the prominent colors in the decorations, and flowers in these shades added much to the charming effect attained.

Rev. Stansell gave a very instructive talk on the home study, "The Motion Picture—A Social Force," an article by Catherine Cooke Gilman, President of the Federal Motion Picture Council of America. Tests have been made which prove that 70 per cent of the knowledge which came from films has been retained by children.

Rev. Stansell closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. C. C. Hintz had charge of the social hour and delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Ambrose and Glenn Cortright To Wed in Near Future

Last evening Mrs. John Mulnix and Miss Gladys Ambrose delightfully entertained at the Mulnix home, eight guests at bridge honoring Miss Dorothy Ambrose who is soon to be married to Glenn Cortright.

There were two tables of bridge. Mrs. E. Warton was awarded the favor for high honors; and Miss Helen Krug won the favor for second honors. Miss Ambrose received a guest prize. A delicious two course luncheon was later served, decorations in pink being very attractive. Pink sweet peas, candles and favors added much to the artistic effect. After the announcement of the engagement, all present wished Miss Ambrose much happiness in advance.

The music was generously given for the benefit of the Missionary Society and the members of the organization are most appreciative of the gracious home and the kindness of the artists.

LOYALTY TO A HITLER, A WARNING TO US.

The modern world has not often seen anything like the spectacle which Hitler's Nazis put on in Germany the other day. More than a million men raised their hands and swore unquestioning fidelity to Hitler—a demonstration of loyalty and discipline almost without parallel.

Now, it is easy enough to point out that Hitler is a product of the post-war turmoil, to recite the sickening list of his party's atrocities, and to demonstrate that his program means trouble for his own people and the rest of Europe. But to do that is to miss the point.

His reception by German youth, and this amazing display of loyalty to his person, are symptomatic of a very great change that has come over men's minds in the last few years.

To understand it, listen to a few of the remarks made at this most recent demonstration. Baldur von Schirach, chief of the Hitler Youth Movement, is speaking. He says:

"The will of a single man—Hitler—directs our march. The Hitler youth knows it has no privileges, only duties. Days of romantic dreaming are over. We want a young Sparta. Voluntarily, the whole of young Germany submits to a single law—that of Hitler."

"All of us differ in many ways. We are equal in one thing—we are all ready to die for Hitler."

That kind of talk is not listened to by men who believe that they are masters of their own destinies. It can be applauded only when there is an almost universal conviction that the old ways of self-help, self-determination, and self-reliance are completely done for.

German youth, in other words, has become convinced that those old words, freedom and democracy, have lost their meaning in the modern world. They have stopped believing that men can handle their own affairs properly; henceforth they ask only to be led, and they promise in advance to go blindly and without questioning.

How does that affect us, 5000 miles away? The answer is clear; it is a challenge and a warning. We still have the blessing of democratic freedom. It is up to us to prove that it still is workable.

The world trend is away from it. It cannot save it—if we cannot show that a free people can meet and solve the greatest of problems without laying aside its freedom—then it is apt to vanish from the earth.

AN IDOL PASSES.

It isn't likely that the name of the late John McGraw will find its way into very many history books. Nevertheless, the man's career symbolized a whole era in American life.

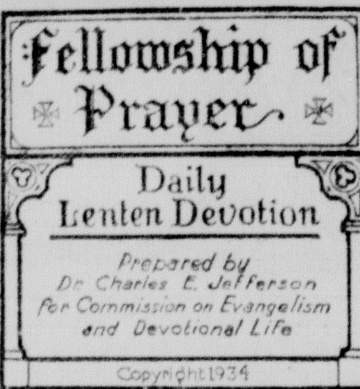

He came to fame in what you might call the rowdy era—the old, far-off day when baseball was a rough, tough game, the one great diversion of the masses, played by lads who ignored the finer points of behavior, but who did know all there was to be known about throwing, hitting and catching baseballs.

That was the day when a game between two small-town teams was apt to break up in a free-for-all fight at any time; the day when it was smart to subsidize the umpire, if you could get at him; the day when a visiting team might expect to have to run for the train through a barrage of brickbats, if things went wrong.

McGraw, of course, was a big leaguer, removed from such plebeian demonstrations. Nevertheless—truculent aggressive, dictatorial—he typified that era. It is gone, now, and so is McGraw.

American life has changed very greatly in the last generation. His career was one of those that bespoke the change.

There is not at present any adequate method by which the federal government can attack kidnaping.—Joseph B. Keenan, assistant U. S. attorney general.

"In My Name"

"In my name" are three words often overlooked, and when observed, are sometimes misunderstood. It is easy to empty them of their content and give them a degrading interpretation. To suppose that a prayer is made more pleasing to God by tacking to it the name of Jesus is superstition. It reduces Christianity to magic and imputes to Jesus a grade of intelligence which makes him contemptible. A prayer can be offered in the name of Jesus even though his name is not once mentioned. He is no stickler for etiquette. The words which he speaks are spirit and life. The letter profits nothing. When he urged his disciples to pray in his name he was not thinking of words. To the Hebrews, name meant character, or spirit, or mission, or purpose. In the name of Jesus means in the spirit of Jesus. Every prayer offered in his spirit or for a cause dear to his heart is offered in his name. A prayer may be covered all over with the name of Jesus or Christ and still be pagan.

Prayer: Almighty God, breathe into us the spirit of Thy Son that we may love the things which he loves and choose the things which he desires us to have. May the words which we speak and the deeds which we do be spoken and done in his name. Amen.

Early Census Plan

In the census of 1930 the name of the head of the family, the mother and the names of children were given for the first time. The previous census reports gave the name of the head of the family, the number of children and whether they were over sixteen years of age.

A GIFT FOR LIVING

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)
Of a lady friend of mine it was said recently, "She has a gift for living"; and it is true. It is the finest of all gifts, and one of the rarest. Some have it, some do not. Some of us do not know how to handle life, perhaps because we take it by the wrong handle.

It would surprise us to know how many people actually hate life. They find it irking, vexing, maddening, if not a rather stupid joke. Its limitations, its hardships, its senseless triviality frets them at times to fury. They go on living because they see no honorable way out of it.

Not so my friend. She loves life, despite its ups and downs and sad vicissitudes of which she has had her share. Mayhap that is how she learned the knack of it. She holds a few things firmly, tenaciously, triumphantly, and the rest lightly. It is a joy to see her handle life.

For one thing, her mind does not regurgitate, like a leaky valve. She makes quick and clear decisions, and what she decides she does. She treats all disasters as incident and no incident is a disaster. If she seems to make some big things little, she never makes a little thing big.

A great sorrow, long gone by, taught her much. It gave her a new sense of proportion, of value, of what is worth while and what is not worth bothering about. She knows the difference between flowers and weeds, and how to think things out. Her mind is not cluttered with old regrets.

Once two of her friends had a row. She went to each alone and said: "Honestly, now, knee to knee, cat to cat, what do you think about it?" They told her a plenty, naughty things and a few nice things. She repeated what they said—the nice things, that is, forgetting the rest. An artist, she said, must select his materials with skill.

So she ironed out the wrinkle and the two fighters became close friends, but they did not know how it was done. She is not weakly unselfish, but her joy is in others. She is practical, helpful, radiant. No wonder she is beloved—when she enters a room it is as if a light had been turned on. Yes, she knows how to live—and I know no higher tribute.

APPETITE AND HUNGER

Appetite and hunger are related, but far from identical.

Normal appetite is the expectant feeling which comes upon one at meal times, a feeling which suggests that food would be welcome.

Appetite is largely a mental attitude. The best proof of this is that appetite may be quickly dispelled and lost by such incidents as an unpleasant sight, by anger, joy, or by some interesting task.

Hunger, on the other hand, represents a deep constitutional need which is not readily dulled except by food. If hunger remains ungratified, it becomes in time a most compelling force, capable of driving the sufferer to extraordinary action.

The present-day theory advanced to explain the peculiar sensations which we call hunger holds that they are provoked by a drop in the concentration of sugar in the blood. When the blood sugar falls below a certain level (80 to 90 milligrams of sugar per 100 cubic centimeters of blood), the individual feels hungry.

The relation between blood sugar and hunger also is illustrated by the fact that diabetic patients who take or are given a dose of insulin somewhat in excess of their need develop a keen craving for food.

Despite the fact that appetite and hunger are not directly related, in most persons, the amount of food eaten according to the dictates of appetite conforms closely to body requirements. Where there is any discrepancy between appetite and bodily needs, the fault is in the direction of excess.

One British authority suggests an interesting psychology of over-eating:

Those who have never had enough to eat when young, usually through poor social conditions, carry on the habit of eating all they can when they reach affluence.

"In many elderly people, too, with no great interest in life except food and possessions, natural appetite often atrophies and is replaced by greedy habits."

RHEUMATISM

Has Left Him

When a man so crippled with rheumatism cannot go to his daily work and suddenly finds a swift, powerful yet safe prescription that drives out pain and agony in 48 hours can you imagine the jubilant happiness of the whole family as Dad brings home his pay envelope regularly again.

Campbell's White Cross Drug Store and leading druggists everywhere call this grand prescription ALLENRU and think so much of its mighty power to drive excess uric acid from the system that they guarantee one $5.00 bottle to overcome rheumatic pain and conquer backache, sciatica, neuritis and lumbago just as this notice states or money back—a square deal to all sufferers—Adv.

GOOD TASTE IS EVERYTHING

In cigarettes, too! So in making Lucky Strike cigarettes we use the finest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—and only the center leaves—they are the mildest, the smoothest. And every Lucky is so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends.

SPORTS OF SORTS SHARPshooters GIVEN SCORE BY ERIE HIGH BOYS

Sterling Also Encountered Unexpected Opposition Last Eve

By BRADLEY MOLL

The second night of the tournament at Sterling brought some action that most every tournament management dreams about: that of some smaller teams giving the record holders and favorites some real competition. It seems as though that idea is the final elixir of hope, when the underdog can come up and dish out some real competition. The first game of the evening was between Walnut and Ohio, and that game turned out to be a much better game than the average game of the preceding night. Walnut managed to break into the lead fairly early in the game, which often means a victory; however, with Walnut in the lead the Ohio boys did their best to cut down the six-point margin, but their attempts were useless and the game ended with Walnut the victor by an eight-point margin. The scoring by quarters follows:

Walnut 16-6-3-8
Ohio 9-7-0-0

The second scheduled game was the game for which the local fans journeyed to Sterling, and which game was played between the purple and white of Dixon and the black and red of Erie. The game was a much better game than the average game of the preceding night. Dixon looked quite ragged in the first quarter, and had a tough time penetrating the man-to-man defense of the hard hitting Erie team. At that time the Erie lads led the Dixon boys 9 to 4, which lashed the Sterling fans beyond measure, and which cast some damper on the spirits of the Dixon fans. In the center play Dixon was outclassed by a center who really had some height to him, but who could not control the tip-off as well as he might have. Dixon played their best in the last three quarters, and came back to do some rapid scoring in order to build up a safe lead which the short remaining time would not permit to be torn down.

Meet Walnut Tonight

The Dixon ball handling looked best in the latter two periods also, and it was quite evident that they were anxious to come through and take a shot at Walnut tonight. By winning their game last night they have that opportunity, and tonight the Dixon and Walnut squads meet at 8:45.

Returning to last night's contest we notice some interesting facts. Dixon did not make a field goal in the first quarter, making all four points on free throws, which no doubt helped a great deal in winning the game. In that respect Dixon made a very good showing, making 78 per cent of her free throws. In the entire first half Dixon made but three field goals, in contrast to their seven in the last half. Dixon's remaining points in the 12-12 tie at the half came from these throws.

The scoring by quarters for the game follows:

Dixon 4-3-8-11
Erie 9-3-3-9

The game was quite erratic in the first few minutes of play, or even the first half, the Erie lads taking the lead from the start. Dixon tied up the score 3-all, then Erie forged ahead again. Underwood made a basket tying the score 10-all in the second period. Dixon took the lead in the last few minutes of the second quarter until Walker of Erie tied the score at 12-all at the half period.

The third game of the evening was another of the Dixon type with a supposedly weak team coming up and almost giving the strong team "the works." The Sterling-Lee game should be considered in the light of comparison, and in reality that is about the only way we can take the two teams and do them justice. The Sterling team, of course, out-weighed the Lee team, and they had, no doubt, more experience, but the team from Lee had the edge on Sterling in this respect: they had a marvelous defense, and kept Sterling right down to their size for the first half, being but one goal behind Sterling at the half period. Lee lacked one thing to beat Sterling, and that was the ability to take the ball and swing it through the basket. If they had had one man who could do that feat once in a while then Lee could have easily taken Sterling right down the line, the thing that Sterling needed to beat Lee worse than they did was some luck on their basket shooting. Sterling had some tough luck on their shots last night, but this does not alleviate the fact that they looked ragged last night, and were not hitting like a winning team should hit. The score by quarters of this game follows:

Lee 2-3-5-6
Sterling 5-2-10-5

The last game of the evening was between West Brooklyn and Lyndon.

Some high point men of the evening were Albrecht of Ohio, with 15 points; Peach of Walnut with 13 points; Bare, center for Erie and Bellows of Dixon with 10 points each; Underwood of Dixon with 9 points.

And don't forget, fans, see Dixon play tonight, the game starting at 8:45 P. M.

200 TEAMS BEATEN

Chicago, Mar. 8.—(AP)—Thornton High of Harvey, the defending champion and the team to beat for the 1934 Illinois prep basketball title until a better team comes along, will make its first tournament effort tonight against Monee at Chicago Heights.

Thornton, with three veterans of the 1933 championship team, and equipped with strong replacements, has lost only to Flora this year and expects to brush Monee aside tonight.

Last night's games, marked by 10 terrific scoring blasts, accounted for the hopes of nearly 200 teams. The peak scoring effort of the grind to date and one of the biggest in the history of the tournaments, was accomplished at Fairfield by Mt. Vernon, its total was 89, while Crossville, the other party to the spectacle, was held to 16.

Some Big Scores

Equality smothered the Cereal Springs aggregation 76 to 22, at Harrisburg, while Salem and Elgin each ran up 74 points. Elgin, playing at Crystal Lake, walloped Plato Center, 74 to 17, and Salem trounced Clay Center, 74 to 8, at Flora. At Streator, Ottawa crushed Sheridan 73 to 27, and Edwardsville gave a home crowd a treat by defeating St. Jacob, 71 to 20. Atlanta ran up 66 points to 20 for Waynesville, at Lincoln, and three teams, West Frankfort, Sycamore and Coal City, turned in 64 points each.

West Frankfort took Defield, 64 to 12, at Benton; Sycamore, a favorite at DeKalb, trounced Genoa, 64 to 24, and Coal City not only did a lot of scoring at Joliet but held Lisbon to the lowest total of the night, three points. Mulberry Grove defeated Smithboro, 60 to 7, at Vandalla.

Six Overtime Games

Six battles went overtime before the vanquished would admit defeat. At Gibson City, Roberts needed two extra periods to eliminate Melvin, 27 to 26, and Riverside went two overtimes to get rid of York of Elmhurst, 34 to 27. In single overtime struggles, O'Fallon defeated Freeburg, 32 to 31 at Belleville; Golconda conquered Joppla, 32 to 28 at Metropolis; Kingman of Peoria, downed Fremont, 25 to 21, at Pekin, and Earlville defeated Grant Ridge, 24 to 22, at Streator.

HOLDOUT RANKS Dwindling For BIG LOOP CLUBS

Lure of Grapefruit Is Taking Effect on Dissatisfied

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The lure of the grapefruit league seems to be taking effect on baseball holdouts where the cold arguments of club owners failed. Touched, perhaps, by pre-spring fever, the desire to get into uniform and loosen up a few muscles prancing around under the warm sun, players who previously couldn't agree to the terms of their contracts have been dropping into the camps in increasing numbers.

Since Monday a dozen major league players have put their names on the dotted lines while more have dropped around, to talk it over. Only a few, notably Jimmie Fox of the Athletics, are left on the list of determined holdouts.

Indians, Yanks Sign

The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees reduced their hold-out lists materially this week. Monte Pearson and Dick Porter signed up and Roy Spencer sent word that he had agreed to terms with Cleveland. Vernon Gomez, Danny MacFayden and Frank Crosetti put their names on Yankee contracts.

This left the Indians with Glenn Mott, Wes Ferrell, Willis Hudlin, Lloyd Brown, Johnny Burnett and Harley Boss, still on the outside. Lyn Lary and the star catcher, Bill Dickey, who is firm in his determination to wait for a higher salary, continue to trouble the Yanks. Ben Chapman and Dixie Walker also are unsigned.

Fox and third baseman Pinky Higgins remained as the Athletics' only absentee after Bob Johnson joined up Tuesday, and Washington's champion Senators were still arguing with Cliff Bolton, catcher and pinch hitter.

Luke Appling, last of the Chicago White Sox to sign up, did it Monday while the St. Louis Browns tucked away Sam West's contract in the files. Two other Brownies, Irving Burns and Frank Grube, both unsigned, are in camp.

Wilson's Only Out

While the Brooklyn Dodgers have about the biggest list of unsigned players of any National League club, Business Manager Bob Quinn refuses to be worried about any but catcher Al Lopez. Hack Wilson understands the situation, Quinn said, and was offered the opportunity to arrange a trade for himself. Wilson, Quinn revealed yesterday, is the only Dodger whose salary was reduced. Jimmy Jordan and Ray Bengie aren't classed as serious holdouts at all. Two other Dodgers, Chick Outen and Walter Beck, came to terms this week.

Charley Root of the Cubs was another who succumbed to the spring lure, leaving only Billy Herman unsigned. Chick Hafey, Cincinnati's leading slugger, also came to terms this week. Ed Brandt, Boston flinger, has reached St. Petersburg and probably will sign soon, but Paul Dean of the Cardinals still is objecting to the salary offered an ordinary rookie and Pittsburgh is suffering hold-out trouble from shortstop Arky Vaughan.

DIXON BOWLING TEAMS IN A. B. C. PLAY IN PEORIA

Two Outfits of Local Sharp Shooters to Enter Tourney

Dixon will enter two teams in the annual American Bowling Congress which opens in Peoria the latter part of this week. Local pin stars have entered the singles, doubles and team events and will start rolling their first games Saturday evening. The local delegations will roll under the name of the Dixon Recreation, and Dixon Boosters.

The Recreation five man team is scheduled to roll Saturday night at 9 o'clock and the following will compose the team: F. Suter, E. Detweiler, F. McLaughlin, J. Hartzell and L. Poole.

The same team will enter the doubles event Sunday afternoon at 1:30 with F. Suter, E. Detweiler, J. Hartzell and L. Poole. The individuals rolling at 2:15 Sunday afternoon are F. Suter, E. Detweiler, J. Hartzell and L. Poole.

The Dixon Boosters will go into action at 9 o'clock Saturday evening in the five man event, presenting a team composed of A. Kniel, J. Darby, G. Hayden, L. Prescott and W. Nixon. The doubles will start at 12 o'clock Sunday noon with three sets: A. Kniel-L. Prescott, J. Darby-G. Hayden, and F. Daschbach-W. Nixon participating. A. Kniel, L. Prescott, J. Darby, G. Hayden, F. Daschbach and W. Nixon.

Rice an Aquatic Crop

Rice is normally an aquatic crop and flooding of the ground in which it is planted is a part of the cultural procedure in growing it. Likewise, it is a crop which has a definite indifference to alkaline soil conditions.

PRODUCERS OF MOVIES GUARD AGAINST LIBEL

Every Plot Is Gone Over With Fine-Toothed Legal Combs

Hollywood, Calif., March 8.—(AP)—Libel is Hollywood's bogey. The very word shivers a producer's spine.

The movie men spend much time and money guarding against verdicts like that in which Princess Irene Yousouf won a $126,000 judgment against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in London.

Many films, like written words, are potentially laden with libel, defamation of character, or slander. Business-wise Hollywood approaches even the most innocuous plot with a fine-toothed legal comb to smooth out kinks that might develop into court-room tangles.

When the film subject is historical or biographical, as was the case with "Rasputin and the Empress," the picture that Princess Irene said libeled her, the legal combs are finer still, and yet—as the verdict in this case might indicate—sometimes not fine enough.

Fictional Names

Invariably, except in the case of established historical characters, fictional names are given screen characters even though they are based on men and women who actually lived and did the things—or some of the things—attributed to them by the scenario.

Addresses and telephone numbers are pitfalls for the unwary producer as well as names. If any questionable action is staged at a house whose city and street are identified, the number of the house will be fictitious. Telephone numbers also are painstakingly unreal.

Mythical kingdoms are the usual escape from possible controversy with foreign countries and with persons of noble rank. Burke's peerage is scrutinized carefully to avoid naming a movie earl, duke, or prince after a real one.

In the historical film fictional characters frequently are employed to "do the dirty work," unless history authorizes definite identification.

One Year Ago Today—Harvard's hockey squad defeated Yale, 4-3 in their annual battle.

Five Years Ago Today—Jack Dempsey announced his retirement from the ring.

Ten Years Ago Today—Frank Zuma of the Milwaukee A. A. set a new American record for the marathon of 26 miles, covering the distance from Laurel, Md., to Baltimore in 2 hours, 41 minutes and 39 2-5 seconds.

"Terminological Inexactitude"
To attribute the term "terminological inexactitude" to a political opponent is a mild way of saying he is guilty of an untruth. An inexactitude is an inaccuracy or want of precision; terminology has to do with the special or technical terms or words used in a business, art, science or the like.

Graphic Chart of Old Age

The beginning of the graphic charts which are used to indicate the rise and decline of business has been traced back to a few thousand years B. C. in Egyptian history by a historian of New York city, who asserts that the first efforts of man to show a fact graphically represented the enumeration of armies in Egyptian hieroglyphics. He traced the use of a point with reference to a system of co-ordinates back to the Third century B. TAX CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION IS AGREED UPON

Commission of State Assembly Is About Ready to Report

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—(AP) The Lewis joint revenue commission, which has spent months in studying the state's financial problems in an effort to agree upon a taxation amendment to the Illinois Constitution, has drafted a tentative program.

Final agreement has been delayed as the commission, headed by Rep. F. W. Lewis of Robinson, have debated numerous proposals for modernizing the Constitution's restricted revenue article.

Senator Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democrat, today said the commission of fifteen will soon be ready to submit the tentative program, including a request that Governor Horner call a fourth special session of the legislature to consider the plan.

Include Levy Limit
A one per cent limitation on the total property tax and a limitation on the total indebtedness taxing bodies may incur, will be included in the recommendations.

The recommendations are in the form of a proposed amendment to the constitution which must be adopted by a two-thirds majority in both Houses and then approved by the voters in a referendum.

A revision of one section of the present Constitution and the addition of two sections will be suggested. The report will be submitted to the Governor, and if he calls another special session to consider the matter, will then be submitted to the legislature.

Tentative Proposals
The tentative proposals, now awaiting final approval of the commissioners, include the following points:

1. A limitation of the aggregate indebtedness which taxing bodies of one geographic area may incur to 12½ per cent of the fair cash value of the taxable property in the area until Jan. 1, 1940; after that date the limitation would be ten per cent.

2. Limitation to one per cent of the fair cash value of aggregate taxes on any property in incorporated cities and towns; limitation of eight-tenths of one per cent on all other property.

3. New taxes can be levied and allocated by a majority vote of the two Houses of the legislature; the state not to receive more than ½ of the taxes levied; at least ¾ to go to local governments.

4. A request for a special session to consider the amendment. The one per cent limitation would not apply to taxes levied prior to Jan. 1, 1936.

MRS. ROOSEVELT VISITS VIRGIN ISLANDS TODAY

Getting First Hand Information Concerning Folks

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Mar. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today swiftly circulated through the Virgin Islands to see what the new deal and public works program of her husband, the President, had brought to the island possession.

She went swimming, then visited the lofty, buttressed "bluebeard castle" where federal money is now building a hotel to turn the pirate lair into tourist dollars as an aid to the impoverished islands.

She saw the beginnings of farm work around Lindbergh Bay, watched roads being built, school buildings repaired, and swamps drained.

Untrusting she asked practical questions to bring out the facts of schools, on poverty, and on the pressing local problem of vagrant, parentless children.

Officials told her that the activities of the last few months had resulted in improvements with which nothing else since the islands were bought in 1917 could be compared. Federal flour, butter and pork are feeding the poor.

Fairy Tales
People of olden times had little science and less investigation, but they were rich in imagination, and in imagination they flew, owned supernatural servants, and traversed great distances easily, according to the Knickerbocker Press. The legends of wishing caps, invisible cloaks, magic rugs, seven-league boots and gent of the lamp we call fairy tales. None the less, they were precursors of the age of practical magic in which we live. What is man imagining now? None of the wonders suggested above, for most of these he has, and many more. The fairy tales of our times mirror a world in which war will be outmoded, where the goods of this world will be so equally distributed as to make booms and panics impossible, where jobs await all who are willing to work and where nobody toils to the detriment of his health and happiness, where nation has joined with nation in a great family of peoples.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM
Text: Matt. 13:1-32
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 11.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

The teaching of Jesus was largely in terms of illustration. Much of what he had to proclaim was too high and deep for people to understand, if he had sought to express it to them in language remote from life and daily experience; so he interpreted the high teaching in language and in pictures that his readers might better understand.

It is true that, even with the simplification of his teaching, those who heard him did not always understand, and they came asking to have the meaning of the parables explained to them. In some instances Jesus gave a detailed explanation, as for instance of the parable of the sower and the seed, and we have this explanation along with the parable.

The advantage of teaching by parables is that those who listen are more likely to retain what they always are looking for some deeper and fuller meaning than they have apprehended at first.

We study a parable or a story, old to express or illustrate truth, to discover some meaning that we had not grasped at first, whereas some truth expressed in a plain and matter-of-fact statement would be taken more likely for its matter-of-factness, without concern about its deeper meanings and implications.

We have seen the statement made that the parables of Jesus were understood by everybody. That is not true. Jesus himself complained that his hearers did not grasp his meaning and he reproached even the disciples with being dull of hearing. Nevertheless, the truth probably sank in more deeply and was more capable of being understood because of the simple story form in which Jesus presented it.

Here, in our lesson, we have six parables, all intended to illustrate the nature of God, its growth among men and its issues. The first parable is that of the grain of mustard seed, illustrating how the Kingdom of Heaven grows from small beginnings, and reminding us that truth and goodness are not to be judged in terms of quantity, but in terms of quality and life.

Somewhat the same truth is illustrated in the parable of the leaven—a small lump that works slowly and effectually in the many measures of meal until the whole is leavened.

The parable of the treasure hidden in the field represents, rather, the attitude of the individual toward the Kingdom and the means of his entrance into it; and the parable of the merchant seeking goodly pearls has the same emphasis upon the fact that only those who are willing to give everything for the possession of the Kingdom really enter into it and find its fullness.

The parable of the net cast into the sea illustrates the progress of the Kingdom in the world and the sifting process that it inevitably occasions as it challenges men for good or for evil. And, finally, the likening of the disciple of the Kingdom of Heaven to a householder emphasizes the richness of the treasures of the Kingdom from which the disciple brings forth things new and old.

Here, in twelve verses, we have a marvelously rich and suggestive portrayal of the Kingdom. Nothing less than a lifetime suffices to consider such teaching and to express it in actual living.

Greece Had First Stamps

It appears that the Greeks invented the modern adhesive postage stamp nine years before the issuance of England's penny black hitherto regarded as the first adhesive postage stamp, says the Detroit News.

Hitherto the stamp was only known on cover and among the few that have been found the earliest date was December 25, 1810.

That the stamp was in existence before 1810 is proved by the discovery among some old papers in Greece of a portion of a sheet, consisting of nine stamps, bearing the manuscript inscription on the back with the date May 2, 1831, and the signature of the governor of Poros where the state printing works were situated at that date.

MORE JOBS AIM OF COMMITTEES OF INDUSTRIES

Will Meet Today Under Command of General Hugh Johnson

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson took a new step today in his drive for reemployment. The NRA chief summoned two select industrial committees to help him work out a program for making more jobs.

This he did after closing the first code authority assembly with a sharp announcement that enforcement of blue eagle rules will be tightened up.

"I have been too gentle x x x 'you ain't seen nothing yet,' he asserted last night.

To draft his new plan, Johnson asked the code authorities of the heavy goods industries and of the consumer goods groups to select twelve men each today.

For something concrete to announce to the public by the week-end if possible, but he promised weeks of continuing effort to round out a complete scheme.

The blue eagle chieftain closed the industrial gathering last night with a speech which coupled an energetic appeal to "play the game" with a declaration that in many industries "there is no excuse" for ducking his 10 per cent hour shortening plan.

Then he paired a disclaimer of dictatorial intentions towards industry with three earnest warnings.

"Under specific orders from the President, we are reorganizing to enforce the penal sections of the act," he said, first.

The other warnings were in substance as follows:

Issued Warnings
That the country faces this spring "the worst epidemic of strikes in our history;" that company unions in 99 out of 100 cases involve illegal "interposition" by employers.

That with the recent Supreme Court decision upholding the New York state emergency milk law, the administration has dropped all hesitation, and is ready to use the powers of the industrial law to the limit, if opposition forces it.

Johnson let Donald Richberg, General Counsel of NRA, present the last point in a preliminary speech, which, in non-legal language, presented sweeping implications of the decision.

Constitution Hall's three thousand or so occupants were hushed and attentive as the counsel, after explaining, drawled:

"And that should sink a lo-o-o-g way home, I want to submit and say they will cancel their codes if they don't get just what they want. It may be—that that act doesn't lie in their power."

Johnson backed that warning with a few preliminary snaps at "industrial bourgeois" who "forget that the old order changeth."

Partly Conciliatory
But the keynote of his address was a conciliatory exhortation for industry to rise to the opportunity given it by President Roosevelt.

He asked the industrial spokesmen to realize that their new endeavor meeting is as important as the Council of Nine—nothing like it has ever happened in the history of the world; that NRA has set up representative government by economic groups, and "on this rule let's govern or give up the attempt."

He tendered a special olive branch to the heavy goods industries, which had led the fight against hour shortening, by asking their help in shaping for the President a program to stimulate their production.

Further, he asked that this morning's meeting for selection by them of a continuing committee be conducted by George Houston, president of Baldwin Locomotive, and vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Houston by repeated attacks on hour shortening and by virtue of individual prominence had become identified as number one man in the opposition.

Picks Committee Heads
Houston wants amendment of the Securities Act and removal of barriers to the free investment of capital.

The other, consumer industry group, was to be chosen by a gathering to be headed by George Sloan, chief of the Cotton Textile Institute. It was Sloan who came to the rescue yesterday with endorsement of hour shortening in a number of industries, although he opposed blanket inclusion of them all.

Johnson's warning on the union question caused a stir. He urged industrialists to work with the Federation of Labor or they might have Communists to deal with. It might seem unpleasant to talk about, he said, but added:

"We have got to accord labor the rights guaranteed by this act. There is no law prohibiting a company union as such if there is no interposition whatever by employers, and if the men freely choose it. But 99 times out of 100, you know and I know that this is not the Let's not kid ourselves. Let's act before Congress acts."

Elephants and Mice
There is a popular belief that elephants have an especial fear of mice, the reason being that small mouse-like animals sometimes crawl up the trunks of the wild elephants when they are feeding. This is denied by wild animal experts, who claim that the wild elephant's greatest fears are dogs and human beings. In zoological parks the elephants are stated to pay no attention whatever to the mice around the barns.

GOLFING WORLD TO WATCH JONES RETURN TO PLAY

One and Only to Play In Augusta National Tournament

Miami, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Four years after they took their last licking from the one and only professional golf club today looks forward with mixed emotions to the eminent Georgian's return to open competition the end of this month at Augusta; still somewhat apprehensive but nevertheless optimistic that the faster pace and newer stars of the last few years will combine to strike a telling blow for the pro standards.

If the truth must be told however, it is that the professionals entertain more hope than convictions that they can take Jones' measure on what they consider "his own backyard." The Augusta National course designed according to the former world champion's own ideas and for which he already holds the low scoring record, 65. With a few exceptions, the pros think Jones can still play championship golf.

Faith in Runyan
Their principal faith, based on a consensus gathered by The Associated Press, is pinned on diminutive Paul Runyan, the 25-year-old shotmaker from Arkansas and White Plains, N. Y., who has developed the high efficiency of his game since Jones retired in 1930.

There are at least half a dozen others who might bob up to give Jones the main battle, including slender Denny Shute, the British open champion who combined with Al Espinosa yesterday to take the measure of Runyan and Horton Smith in the four ball championship final, but Paul is the fair-haired boy of the clan.

The only notable absentee in the 72-hole battle for $5,000 in prize money at Augusta is Gene Sarazen, present National PGA champion and the only player aside from Jones who has won both the British and American open tournaments in the same year. Gene has been one of Bob's biggest rivals in open competition but unless he changes his mind he will be on a Latin-American golfing tour by airplane at the time of the Augusta event.

McMILLIN WILL COACH INDIANA FOOTBALL TEAM

Centre College's All-American Quarter Is Signed Up

Bloomington, Ind., March 8.—(AP)—To A. N. (Bo) McMillin, the quarterback who led Centre College's "Praying Colonels" in their notable victory over Harvard more than a decade ago, has been entrusted the task of improving the football fortunes of Indiana University.

The 1919 All-American, who has coached at Centenary, Geneva, and Kansas State, will take over the head football coaching reins at the Hoosier Western Conference school next week, when he arrives to conduct spring practice.

McMillin accepted the post in a conference with Z. G. Cleveland, Indiana Athletic Director, at St. Louis yesterday, and his appointment was announced here last night.

Second New Face
His will be the second new face in Big Ten coaching circles this year. Francis A. Schmid, formerly of Texas Christian, has been named head coach at Ohio State University.

Neither the length of McMillin's contract nor the size of his salary was made public. A statement by the faculty athletic committee said the salary "is considered in line with that generally paid for the services of Big Ten coaches."

E. C. (Billy) Hayes, Indiana track coach and the man McMillin succeeds in the football position, hailed the Kansas State coach as "the best possible choice," and said he anticipated "a promising future for Indiana."

Hayes Satisfied
Hayes, who was drafted to take over the football coaching job after H. O. (Pat) Page was ousted three years ago, relinquished the duties recently to devote his attention to track.

With McMillin and a new line coach to be named by McMillin, Hayes is expected to co-operate to form a board of football strategy. A. J. (Butch) Nowack, former Illinois player, has been coaching the Indiana line.

Immediate reaction on the campus to the selection of the 37-year-old McMillin was favorable.

He produced colorful teams at Kansas State, where he has coached for six years.

Frequency of Storms
The occurrence of more lightning storms in summer is caused not alone because weather conditions are then best for the formation of strong upward currents of air having high velocity, but also because the raindrops are probably warmer.

PABLITO, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the palatial Florida home of millionaire JIM FIELD.

The son of a titled Englishman and a servant girl, Pablito knows nothing of his parents. When 8 years old he ran away from ANGELA, the heartless old crone in whose care he was left. Since then he has lived with NORRIS NOYES, a mysterious individual who has been better days.

Field's estranged wife and their daughter, ESTELLE, arrive at the Florida home. Pablito sees Estelle and almost at once falls in love with her.

TED JEFFRIES, a guest at the Field home, stops his boat at the island where Pablito and Noyes live and recognizes Noyes. Later he tells his wife Noyes is wanted by police for a murder years before and that he is going to report him.

Pablito tells Noyes to hide in the swamp and promises to meet him there that night.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

THE swamp was a place of low growing trees from which hung Florida moss—the gray, ghostly growth that brings the eeriness of a moonless, wind-haunted night to the brightest of noons. Sometimes there were fugitives there and always there were snakes.

Noyes shivered, pushing in among the trees with a blunt prowed canoe. He feared the place but tonight a stronger fear made it a sanctuary.

No one could track him here. He knew the swamp as few knew it and a canoe left no scent for dogs. Perhaps even now at Bantum's they were watching for him. He remembered, with a cold clutch at his heart, having snubbed Jeffries for telling, at a club they both frequented, a not too pleasant story of a woman they both knew. He wondered whether Jeffries remembered.

"Even if he does I don't regret it," Noyes said to himself.

Presently he discovered that deep in the swamp some one had lit a fire. A faint glow from it came through the dense underbrush and the curtains of seeming life, yet ever-growing moss.

Noyes would see who had lit the fire after he had tied and hidden his canoe. It would be just as well to know who else was here and it would also help to put in the time. Pablito was always thorough and that meant he would be slow.

Noyes' nerves were at such a state that inaction was torture.

He had made his way very cautiously within 50 feet of the fire, hidden by the thick brush, when he halted. From where he stood, the moving air stirred the drooping leaves, he could see a girl who was pretty in the fashion of pictures on calendars. Her pert face was round and her features were regular. Her dark, abundant hair was curled too thickly; there was mascara matted on her lashes and too much color on her cheeks. She sat on a log with her short, thick hands clasped around her knees and because of this Noyes knew she was a stranger. An intimate acquaintance with swamps does not invite one to sit upon logs.

"Where you been?" the girl asked petulantly.

"I thought I heard sumpin'."

"I wish to God we could get outa here."

"Look here, girl, we'll be moving tomorrow night. How often I told you that anyway? I ain't so stuck on the place myself but do you hear me bawling about it?"

"No but we can't all be like you, darling."

"Shut up."

For a moment they were quiet; the man standing and looking down at the small fire, the girl's eyes, too, held by it. She broke the silence. "I don't like them Spanish rigs anyways," she said.

"Say, what's the matter with you?" the man asked roughly. "Haven't I told you about 40 of Field's gang has picked on 'em?"

"That don't make me like 'em no better."

"It makes it safe."

"I don't like it."

"My God, Lottie! Don't get one of your nervous streaks," the man petitioned. "You know what they do to me before a job. If you keep your head there's no reason why we shouldn't clean up enough to put us on easy street. Look here—I've studied all the sides of it! And what could be easier—?"

"You're talking pretty loud, Beau," the girl said.

"Well, who's to hear me?" he answered angrily but he lowered his voice and Noyes could hear no more than an isolated word or two, rising harsh and clear from the rough whisper.

"OH, all right!" she said at length and loudly, "but I tell you I don't wanta go up again! Honest to God, I'd rather die!"

"My God, who's sayin' you're goin' to go up?" he answered, for getting caution and speaking even more loudly. "How are they goin' to get you? You turn up, one of 20 or 30 women in Spanish rigs. Field's not goin' to count his friends. The help will all be hangin' around the edges of the place, hopin' to see what's goin' on. If you can say you're powderin'—fixin' up. It's so damned simple—it's a crime! And the same with me. That Jeffries fellow is going as a Toreador and we're not so much different in build. We won't stay until they unmask and—"

She broke in with some petulant, low-voiced objection. Then, as

"You're talking pretty loud, Beau," the girl said.

A MAN, short and stocky and also dark, stepped into the clearing from a spot that was opposite Noyes.

"Where you been?" the girl asked petulantly.

Charge Ambulance Put Epectant Mother in Street

Charges that Mrs. Carmine Manfredi had been turned out of a hospital ambulance into the street less than an hour before she gave birth to twins were ordered investigated by Mayor La Guardia of New York. Mrs. Manfredi, wife of an unemployed Brooklyn, N. Y. laborer, is shown with the baby daughters born to her a half hour after she had been admitted to the Cumbe land Hospital.

coach and the man McMillin succeeds in the football position, hailed the Kansas State coach as "the best possible choice," and said he anticipated "a promising future for Indiana."

Hayes, who was drafted to take over the football coaching job after H. O. (Pat) Page was ousted three years ago, relinquished the duties recently to devote his attention to track.

With McMillin and a new line coach to be named by McMillin, Hayes is expected to co-operate to form a board of football strategy. A. J. (Butch) Nowack, former Illinois player, has been coaching the Indiana line.

Immediate reaction on the campus to the selection of the 37-year-old McMillin was favorable.

He produced colorful teams at Kansas State, where he has coached for six years.

Frequency of Storms
The occurrence of more lightning storms in summer is caused not alone because weather conditions are then best for the formation of strong upward currents of air having high velocity, but also because the raindrops are probably warmer.

Heated Water Freezes Quickest
Water which has previously been heated will freeze a little more rapidly than water which has not, if both are of the same temperature when placed under the same freezing conditions. This is because water which has once been heated has lost a large percentage of the air. For the same reason, water which has been heated will freeze more solidly.

Year Without a Summer
The year 1816 was known as the year without a summer. There was a killing frost and snow every month of the year in New York, Pennsylvania and the New England states, and even as far south as the Virginia mountains. All over the country cold weather was prevalent.

N. D. A. Causes Much Grief
In fact, serious danger may follow if it is not stopped. N. D. A. (Nocturnal Disturbance Act or bladder irregularity at night) can be relieved by using out the impurities and excess acids which cause the irritation that wakes you up. Make this 25c test. Get a box of Bukets, the bladder laxative. They contain buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., and work on the bladder similar to castor oil in the bowels. After four days if not satisfied go back and get your 25c. If bothered by burning, leg pains, backache, frequent desire, you are bound to feel better after this flushing and you get your regular sleep. Bukets guaranteed by Rowland's Pharmacy—Adv.

they forgot caution and began to quarrel loudly, Noyes crept away. Fortunately Pablito never went to the camp at night, Noyes reflected. Otherwise he might be suspected of the theft that was planned if Noyes could not in some way through Pablito forestall the plan's maturing.

Something stirred in the undergrowth to slither over the ground and slip without sound into a pool of stagnant water. Noyes forgot that which he heard, to remember only his waiting. Perhaps now, at this very instant, Pablito at Bantum's was hearing the fact that a search was on for Norris Noyes.

BANTUM did not know of any one being looked for except a girl called Lottie who had escaped from a reformatory on a ladder she had made of two sheets, her night gown and the matron's best apron.

Lottie's career, Bantum said, as he leaned across the bar, had been "something fierce." She had stolen to an extent that would have landed any man in Sing Sing for a long period. But the jurors were men and Lottie had cried piteously as she looked at them and she had been sent to the reformatory, which evidently did not suit her fancy as a home for even the short time she was to serve.

She had dark hair, dimples, curling lashes and gray eyes. And there was a big reward out for the man or woman who found her.

HONOR PUPILS IN COMPTON SCHOOL WERE ANNOUNCED

Prof. Thompson Issues List of Outstanding Students

By Faye Archer
Compton—Prof. D. C. Thompson of the Compton school announces the following honor class for February: Virginia Jacobs, Mary Martin, Anita Schmidt, Gloria Osterbach, Alto Cook, Theo. Swope, Lester Kaufman, Virginia Ogilvie, Leo Eggers and Ruth Jacobs. Special honor for the month goes to Gertrude Grosshans.

The Juniors led the attendance in the high school, being 87 per cent perfect, freshmen, with 67 per cent and sophomores with 56 per cent trailed.

Those in the intermediate and primary rooms taught by Ruth Holdren and Zeda Swope who succeeded in making the honor roll are:

Eighth grade: Ted Nelson.
Seventh grade: Dale Archer, Betty Jane July, Guy Mirely.
Sixth grade: Lorraine Grosshans, George Albert Richardson, Arthur Eddy and Betty Ann Montavon.
Fifth grade: Betty Bauer.
Third grade: Dolores Eddy.
Second grade: Jimmie Corwin.

Jimmie Taylor, Robert Bernadine.

First grade: Billy Herrier, and Billy Carnahan.

The "Go-Getters" section of the M. E. Ladies Aid will give a St. Patrick's supper and party Friday, March 16, at the Hotel Grand. A cafeteria supper will be served at 6 o'clock to be followed at 7:30 by five hundred and pinochle for which no extra charge will be made. Music will be furnished during the evening by the M. E. Sunday school orchestra. St. Patrick's souvenirs will be for sale. Come and invite your friends.

Ladies of the Pinochle Club gave a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. Marie Miller in honor of Mrs. Elsie Schneider, who will leave soon for her new home in Sandwich. A theatre party was enjoyed later in the evening.

Royal Neighbors will hold a bakery sale Saturday, March 10, at J. S. Archer's store from ten to twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Bradshaw are spending several days visiting in Madison, Wis.

Mrs. John W. Banks left late last week for Santa Barbara, Calif. Playing to the biggest home crowd of the season in a game against Creston, the local high school squad put on a spirited second half rally to overcome a one-point lead and win easily, 25 to 16.

Captain Les Kaufman, Compton, led in scoring honors, garnering 5 field goals and 3 gift shots for a total of 13 points.

The local high school team completed its most successful season in recent years with a total of seven wins and five losses. Averaging only 18.33 points per game, Compton allowed her opponents 20.41 points per game. Outside of Malta, undefeated champions of the Meridian Conference, no team scored more than 28 points on the locals in any one game. Frequently outwitted and at a disadvantage in regards to height, the Compton boys whipped their opponents through sheer grit and fight. Teamwork was one of the outstanding qualities of this year's squad.

The team will go to DeKalb on Tuesday where they will engage Steward in their initial start in this year's tournament.

Two stars will be lost to the squad through graduation. Captain Lester Kaufman and Leo Eggers. David Kaufman, Joe Ege, Allan McClellan, Floyd Archer, and William Zinke will return next year. Bob Henry will transfer to Creston at the end of this school term.

The regular March meeting of the M. E. Ladies Aid will be in the form of a St. Patrick's party, Wednesday, March 14. The place of the meeting will be announced later.

The March meeting of the Compton Woman's Club will be held Monday evening, March 12, at the church. A garden program arranged by Mrs. Maxine Gilmore will be presented. Of further interest will be the third in a series of tax discussions. W. A. Richardson will give a talk on school taxation.

A surprise stag farwell party was accorded A. C. Schneider by the business men of Compton last Thursday evening at the H. M. Chaon cottage, near Shaws. Business men who were represented nearly one hundred per cent, had assembled at the cottage when H. M. Chaon ushered Mr. Schneider over to the party and welcomed him to spend the evening as the guest of the men, who have respected and admired his business ability, along with his cooperation in the affairs of the community during his residence here for the past eight years. A delicious plate dinner was served by the committee. Along in the evening Mayor J. W. Banks, with a fine gift, and several remarks, extended him good luck in his new business enterprise in Sandwich, to which he will move soon. Mr. Schneider spoke saying that he regretted leaving Compton and thanked the business men as well as the people of the community for their good will, that has made his living in Compton worth many happy thoughts. At a late hour everyone departed for their respective homes.

"The Puzzlers" section of the M. E. Ladies Aid will hold a bakery sale at H. M. Chaon's store Saturday, March 24th.

Wee Goldy watched the turtle more the fish was out of sight. "I'll bet that tasted very good," said Doty. "Gee, I wish I could go riding on the turtle's back. I'm really very light."

"Well, Miss, I fear that what I have done," replied the man, "will spoil your fun. Now that the fish's eaten, my old turtle will not race."

"But go ahead and have your ride, if you're sure you'll be satisfied to ride real slowly." Then a smile spread on wee Doty's face. "You bet I will," she loudly roared, and very promptly hopped aboard. Just then a monstrous rabbit scampered up to Nature Nick.

"Let's have a race," the rabbit said. "I know that I'll come out ahead. Old Tim the turtle is bound to lose. He's never very quick."

"Oh, sure!" yelled wee Doty. "That will be fine. Across the ground I'll draw a line. That's where you both can start from. Then you'll race to yonder tree. While Doty rides the turtle I will ride the rabbit. Me, oh my, this really ought to be an interesting sight to see."

And then the funny race began. The turtle walked. The rabbit ran. Wee Doty felt so confident, a smile spread on his face. The rabbit, though, saw greens nearby. To get at them, he jumped up high and flopped poor Doty to the ground. The turtle won the race.
